Features

5 Warplane in the Woods by Matt Whelan

Nestled in the forest of the Pacific coast lies a graffiti-covered fuselage — an eerie reminder of the Second World War.

9 The Lower Mainland's First Settler-Built Trail by John Macdonald

Kennedy made the first trail built by a settler in the Lower Mainland in 1861. Mapping of the Royal Engineers' survey data has allowed bits of the 150 year old trail to be located.

15 The Curious Case of Charles Mitchell by Racan Souiedan

The release of an escaped Washington slave in the crown colony of Vancouver Island just as the US was on the brink of civil war ignited a flurry of outrage across the border.

19 Logging Camp Memories by Peggie Law

Author Peggie Law recalls life in the 1930s and early 1940s growing up at Camp Bloedel, a railroad logging camp outside of Campbell River.

24 Post-War Surrey: A Beautiful Place

by Mary Carlisle

Surrey from 1945 to 1958 is remembered as a simpler rural community in a landscape more diverse than the Surrey of today.

34 The Victor

Extract from The Victor © D.C. Thomson & Co., Ltd Dundee Scotland

For those interested in the intersections of popular culture and British Columbia's military heritage, this reprint of a Victor comic from May 1962 might be up your alley.
